THE WEATHER. - Last Thursday and part of Friday the sun shone bright and warm. Friday afternoon brought rain, which in the night turned to sleet and continued all night with a howling wind. Sunday it thawed and nearly all the snow disappeared. Monday was a day of alternate clouds and sunshine.

HORSES AND MULES. - T. S. Shroud has bought and sold since Christmas and has a large stock and wants to buy several more horses and mules now. He has some good horses and mules for sale, among the number a five-year-old mule with a four-year-old foal; a mare and foal three years old; mares fifteen hands high and several cheaper mules. Go to his brick livery stable if you want to trade.

Mrs. ELIZA McDONALD. - The Mt. Sterling papers report the death in Owingsville last week of Mrs. Eliza McDonald, aged 57 years. Deceased was a daughter of Patrick Carroll and wife, who were for many years residents of this town. From here they moved to Mt. Sterling, where her daughter married Mr. McDonald. She was buried in the Catholic cemetery, her son being the pall-bearer.

A NARROW ESCAPE. - Ex-Jailor Sam Ratliff started to drive to the home of his brother, Lee Jones, on the Sharpburg creek, late last Saturday afternoon in a blinding snow storm. At the foot of the hill he stopped to see if his way was clear, and his horse got in the rear of the store house and took him over an embankment and into Prichly Ash Creek, which is greatly swollen, and very swift. He had to swim somehow to get out of the stream, but benumbed with cold from his ducking. In trying to regain his road he got his horse stuck into a deep snow drift from which he was unable to extricate himself. Easy Whaley, the bell carrier, found Mr. Jones in this predicament and summoning assistance got him to a neighbor's house.

Young man, don't marry a parlor ornament unless you can afford to hire a cook.

After a man has married money man spends more money on a foolish habit than he does on his wife's hats.

Occasionally a girl discovers that the young man after her own heart isn't after it at all.
